The MOF shall join with the MOEA in formulating the Regulations to determine the application period, procedures, documentary evidence and other related matters for such reduced/refund of Commodity Tax.

Chapter 3 Taxable Value

Article 13

Taxable value of a taxable commodity shall include the related packing costs. For domestically produced commodities, the taxable value shall be the manufacturers' selling price less the commodity tax included in the price.

The taxable value is calculated as follow:

Taxable value = selling price ÷ (1+commodity tax rate)

Article 14

The selling price as prescribed in the preceding Article pertain to the selling price of the month the commodities are sold to wholesalers; if there are no such wholesalers, the selling price is the price at which the commodities are sold to the retailers after deduction allowed for wholesale profit. Should there be different prices, the weighted average selling price shall be adopted. However, the following prices shall not be included in the calculation of the weighted average selling price when:

- 1.The price is obviously low without reasonable excuse;
- 2.There is no selling price for the commodities when used for internal purposes removed from the manufacturer' s premises.

The wholesale profits as prescribed in the preceding paragraph shall be determined by the Ministry of Finance.

Article 15

In case where the manufacturer produces the taxable commodity under a consignment process contract and where raw materials are provided by the consignor, the selling price shall be the selling price of the consignor and the taxable value shall be calculated in accordance with the preceding two Articles.

Article 16

Where the selling price of any taxable commodity is not available for one month thus the taxable value can not be calculated in accordance with Article 13, the taxable value of such commodity shall be the last or most recent month taxable value. If there was no taxable value last month or in the most recent month, the taxable value shall be the taxable value of most similar goods. If there is no similar goods for newly produced products, the taxable value shall be calculated first based on the production cost plus profit and shall be adjusted according to the selling price after the commodity is sold.

Article 17

In case where the tax collection authority in charge, finds that the selling prices and taxable value reported by the manufacturer are not in compliance with Article 13 to 16, through its investigating process, the tax collection authority shall adjust the taxable value based on the investigation results or the standards established by the Ministry of Finance in consultation with the related competent authority.

The standards stated in the preceding paragraph are to be established in all districts by referring to the actual manufactured domestically condition in the market by the Ministry of Finance in consultation with the related competent authority.

Article 18

For imported commodities, the taxable value is calculated based on the aggregate amount of taxable value for customs duty and customs duty.

Chapter 4 Tax Collection

Article 19

Manufacturers should apply to the collection authority in charge at the place of the factory premise for registration as a taxable commodity manufacturer and register the taxable commodities before starting production of the taxable commodities.

Article 20

Should there be any changes to the registered items, or in the case of merger, transfer of ownership, dissolution or discontinuance, the manufacturer should apply to the collection authority in charge within fifteen days for amendment of the registration or cancellation of the registration and pay the commodity tax payable.

Article 21

All tax-paid or tax-exempt commodities shall be issued with certificates by the tax collection authority in charge or customs offices except otherwise approved by the Ministry of Finance to use other substitutes.

Article 22

The manufacturers should set up and keep account books, documents of evidence and accounting records for accurate calculation of commodity tax.

Article 23

Manufacturers are required to pay the commodity tax to the government treasury and file with the collection authority in charge a tax calculation report in the format prescribed by the Ministry of Finance together with the tax payment receipt by the fifteenth of the next month for the goods removed from the factory in the month. If there is no commodity tax payable in one month, the manufacturer is still required to file with the collection authority in charge.

For imported taxable commodities, taxpayers should file with the custom offices, and the commodity tax shall be collected by the custom office together with the custom duties.

In the case of an auction or sale, by a court or other institution, of taxable commodities for which the tax has not been paid, the taxpayers shall declare and pay the tax to the local competent tax authority before collecting the goods.

The taxpayer shall declare and pay the tax to the competent tax authority within 30 days from the day following the day on which the tax-exempt goods are transferred or the purpose of use is changed.

Article 24

Any tax payable, surcharge for belated reporting and non-reporting as provided in this act shall be made known to the taxpayer by the collection authority in charge through a demand notice requiring payment to the government treasury by the taxpayer within fifteen days after receipt of the notice.

Article 25

Where a manufacturer fails to file a report within the time limit prescribed in Article 23, the collection authority in charge shall request him to file the report and pay the commodity tax in three days. If the manufacturer still fails to file the commodity tax report during the three-day period, the collection authority in charge shall undertake investigation and assess the commodity tax payable. If the manufacturer fails to pay the assessed tax payable within the prescribed time limit, the collection authority in charge may prohibit the manufacturer to ship out the commodities until the payment is made.

Article 26

In the case the tax collection authority in charge adjusts the taxable value in accordance with Article 17, he shall calculate and collect the tax payable for the different between the assessed and reported taxable values.

Article 27

In the case a taxpayer is suspected of tax evasion, the collection authority in charge shall apply to the justice agency stating the fact for issuing a search order to search for accounting books, documents and evidential objects under the supervision of police officers or autonomy personnel. The accounting books, documents and evidential objects as obtained during the search process shall be carried back by personnel involved in the search to the collection authority in charge office to be handled according to regulations.

The justice agency shall issue the search order upon receipt of the application of the collection authority in charge as long as the application is considered reasonable. The collection authority in charge shall carry out the search in ten days from issuance of the search order and then return the search order to justice agency.

Chapter 5 Penalties

Article 28

Taxpayers shall, in the event of any of the following, in addition to be notified for completing required procedures or making corrections, be severely liable to a fine exceeding NT$9,000 but not exceeding NT$30,000.

3. Failing to affix tax-payment or tax-exemption certificates or any other Substitutes as approved by the competent authority on packings and containers.
4. Manufacturers failing to keep original documents of evidence for consumption of raw materials or sale and inventory of goods in accordance with regulations.

Article 29

In the case the manufacturer fails to file the commodity tax calculation report within the time limit in accordance with Article 23 but has reported amendment and paid taxes within the amendment time limit prescribed in Article 25, a surcharge for belated reporting of 10% of the commodity tax payable but no less than NT$3,000 shall be collected from the manufacturer. In the case the manufacturer still fails to file the amendment report within the time limit prescribed in Article 25, a surcharge shall be collected for non-reporting of 20% of the tax assessed by the collection authority in charge but no less than NT$9,000.

Where there is no commodity tax payable, the surcharge shall be NT$3,000 for belated reporting and NT$9,000 for non-reporting.

Article 30

Commodity tax recorded on account for raw materials used for producing exported goods shall be collected if the manufacturer fails to process the exported goods within one and a half years from the date of the tax recorded or sells the raw materials domestically. In addition to the collection of tax, the manufacturer is liable to a belated payment calculated on a daily basis at 0.05% of the tax payable from the date immediately following the date of recording till the date of payment except that the cause for not exporting the goods is not the fault of the manufacturer and as approved by the Ministry of Finance.

Article 31

A taxpayer who fails to pay within the prescribed time limit any amount of commodity tax, or surcharge for belated reporting and non-reporting, shall be subject to a surcharge for belated payment at one percent of amount for every two days in arrears. If the payment is not met thirty days after the time limit, the collection authority in charge may refer the case to the court for compulsory execution.

Any amount of commodity tax or surcharge for belated reporting and non-reporting and belated payment not paid thirty days after the time limit as provided in preceding paragraph shall be subject to collection plus interest calculated on a daily basis at the interest rate for a one-year time deposit of the Postal Saving Bureau from the date immediately following the date of expiration of the belated payment time period till the date of payment.

Article 32
